New Color Additions

Oona's calm and soothing color palette expands with two new, timeless shades. The more playful colors of Rose, Mint and Grey are joined by a refined, deep Blue and a subtle and delicate Sand variant. The two colors spark new life to the rug collection making the series more versatile and suitable for different settings.

Whether you want to add a splash of color or complement your existing décor, Oona offers the possibility for both.

A Play Between Shapes and Contrasts

Designer Simon Legald has created Oona for Normann Copenhagen. Oona is a range of three hand knotted rugs with a simple and graphical feel. Oona is a play between shapes and contrasts. Clean lines and soft curves meet each other and go to create three unique shapes that are neither round nor square. A simple, immersed line of a darker shade breaks up the plain color of the surface.

When designing products, Simon Legald often goes into depth with details. He has, for example, given each of the three rugs in the Oona range a different corner radius, thereby creating a variation in design while maintaining the same mode of expression.

Simon Legald explains: "I have tried to create a rug where it is primarily the shape that makes it decorative. I have added a sharp line, which is a simple detail that accentuates the shape by creating asymmetry and works as a visual contrast to the soft rounded edges."

The Oona rug is available in three sizes and five colors; Rose, Mint, Grey, Blue and Sand. The rugs can be used for many purposes. For example, in the dining room, under the coffee table, next to the bed or combined for use in a hallway or large hall.
