Industrial Notes

There is something virtually graphic about the way the slender steel frame grows out below the Studio chair's seat and back, framing the molded shell in an airy design. The flowing lines stand out in an eye-catching silhouette, like a line drawing or a pictogram, just as the empty spaces between the frame and the back act to define the shape. The simple construction in veneer and steel tubing directs one's thoughts towards older French factory chairs, giving Studio its industrial notes. A design that attracts attention, but glows with pure simplicity.

The Studio chairs in veneer are available with shells in oak, black and three inviting shades, Light Grey, Brown and Green, which give an attractive contrast to the black steel frame.

A New Layer to the Studio Range

The original Studio design, with its oak plywood and black steel frame has also been launched with front and full padding, adding texture and comfort to the existing range of chairs. With a broad range of beautiful fabrics from Camira and exclusive leather qualities from Sørensen Leather to choose from, there is a host of opportunities to get creative and add your own personal touch to the industrial Studio design.

The multi-purpose Studio chair series is designed for use in both domestic and public spaces. The series includes chairs, armchairs, and barstools in two heights. All models are stackable, making the range suitable for restaurants and educational facilities with the need for transformable areas. The steel frame makes it easy to grab hold of the chairs and move them around as required.
